MINING, BUSINESS AND STOCKS

STATELINE IS NOW DESERTED.

Nearly Everybody in the Iron County Camp has Departed For Other Fields.

MERCHANTS COINC TO MOVE.

Are Secking New Locations - Will J. Dooly Would Take a Lease on Johnny Mine.

Stateline has become almost depopulated since the closing down of 'the Johnny mine. Excepting the few merchants who were doing business in the camp scarcely anyone is left and it is only a matter of a very short time until they will pull up stakes and pull out,

Lon Bast, who is interested in one of the largest general stores in the camp, informed the "News" today that his firm is preparing to move and he is now looking into the matter of a new locatien, which seems to be the case with

A good many of the camp's former citizens have moved up to Newhouse, in Beaver county, and secured employment at the works of the Newhouse Mines & Smelters corporation, now in the course of construction; some have been given employment in the mine, while others employment in the mine, while others have found work at the Majestic mines, being operated under the superintendency of Ed. F. Freudenthal. A good many have gone to Tobopah and Goldfield, while a few will stay through the winter at Eav. Now, in the employ of winter at Fay, Nev., in the employ of the Newport-Nevada company.

A former resident of the ill-fated camp, who has lived in Stateline since its very inception, and who has worked in the Johnny mine a greater portion of this time, says he cannot believe that the end to the Johnny mine has come. On the contrary, he believes the property will be worked again—and successtully. While he did not intend to criticize the past management, he thought with the expenditure of a little more money for more powerful pumps, together with judicious work, ore bodies were then have over been recorded. greater than has ever been revealed in the Johnny would be disclosed below the present workings. "I cannot believe that the Johnny has seen its best days," said the sentleman from the south, "and I sincerely hope the stockholders will not give up until they give the mine at east another chance."

Will J. Dooly, formerly one of the principal stockholders in the mine, is quoted as having told the present owners that if they would give him a lease on the property for a certain length of time he would take hold of the mine, work it and pay off the present indebtedness.

FORENOON ON 'CHANGE. & Few Stocks Displayed a Tendency to Go Higher.

There was a noticeable picking up in the market price of some stocks called in the Mining Exchange during the forencon. Daly-West advanced a few points, selling at $14.75, while Grand Central was brought out at $4 a share. May Day sold up to 7% cents, closing with 7% cents bid. Only quotations were made in the Nevada stocks. The closing quotations and sales were posted as follows:

GRIEF FOR GENERAL METALS.

Plants of Company at Colorado City Closed Pending Liquidation.

New York, Sept. 22.-Judge Holt of the United States district court, has appointed Alfred Roelker, Jr., receiver of the General Metals company of this city, which was claimed to have a capi-tal of $1,500,000 and large plants for the reduction of gold ore into bullion at Colorado City, Colo. The appoint-ment of a receiver was made on an involuntary petition filed by Joseph M. Bacon, who claims to be a creditor of the General Metals company. He states that the alleged bankrupt corporation has capital stock of $900,000 now outstanding and that its plants are of the value of about $500,000. The petitioning creditor also states that the appointment of a receiver is necessary to preserve the plant and ores in course of treatment, in the interest of himself and Henry W. Palmer and Russell Parker, who are also creditors and join in the appeal. Receiver Roelker furnished a bond for $75,000.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 22.— The Telluride mill at Colorado City, owned by the General Metals com-pany, for which a receiver was ap-pointed at New York today, will be shut down pending liquidation of the company's indebtedness. The shut-down will throw 125 men out of work. The following statement was issued toby Lunt, Brooks & Wilcox, attorneys for the creditors:

'It appears that several, if not all of the directors of the General Metals company are rich men, and between company are rich men, and between them subscribed for the bond at a rate netting $315,000, which by the local management it was supposed would soon be available for the use of the company. Within the last day or two it has been announced from New York that this fund was not available, and in order to create themselves certain of order to protect themselves certain of the creditors of the General Metals company took possession of the ores in the mill which has been pledged to secure the purchase price thereof.

E. Goble is conducting an energetic campaign. The deposits of free gold on this property are enormous and the company is grinding out 50 tons a day with two Ellspass mills, the ore yielding about $6 in the plates. COPPER MOUNTAIN IS NOW REDEEMED.

Judgments Against Beaver County Property Paid and, on the Last Day of Grace.

WOULD HAVE BEEN LOST

Tomorrow-Mine Has Reputation of Being Meritorious, But Needs Some Judicions Management.

The Copper Mountain mine, located in Beaver county, which has been in financial distress for more than a year past, has been redeemed. With all the necessary funds in his pocket with which to meet the judgments piled up against the corporation and which aggregated something like $5,000, including the accrued costs, Manager' Ben T. Lloyd deported last night for Beaver city and today paid over the money to the judgment holders.

This was the last day of grace for the Copper Mountain company and had money not been forthcoming title to the property would have passed to the owners of the judgments.

The Copper Mountain has had a very troublesome career in the past and probably no proposition of merit has had as many ups and downs, A good many thousands of dollars have been spent there, but to a very great extent, the work done has been of little benefit to the property itself. For years the mine had been in charge of inexperienced and incompetent managers, and little was accomplished. Finally, the stock becoming so scattered and laboring under the belief that the stock was non-assessable, the point was reached when those last in charge were unable to raise funds with which to carry on development.

With the Copper Mountain company again on its feet, it is to be hoped that Mr. Lloyd will see to it that the stock.

holders who have stayed by him and paid their assessments at a critical period in the existence of the company, will see to it that they will be rewarded by a wise and careful administration of affairs. That the Copper Mountain has merit

That the Copper Mountain has merit to it is generally conceeded by those acquainted with the mining districts of Beaver county. That it can be made a mine of importance is not doubted if the money used for development purposes is judiciously applied.

The redemption of the mine will be somewhat of a surmise to some as it somewhat of a surprise to some as it was thought up to a day or so ago that the mine was lost so far as the present company was concerned. Stockholders did not respond very promptly when the late assessment was levied, less than $500 being collected.

his Bull of the Woods mines on Hughes creek, where he has been working all summer. The claim on which he has been working is opened by a main adit 170 feet on an ore body which averages four feet wide and carries $29 per ton in gold, silver and copper. His later operations have been on a hard rock tunnel to tap the vein 100 feet deeper. He is in 200 feet on it, but has not yet reached the treasure box. The group of claims is well developed having about 1,600 feet of tunnels and several white and is combine of producing pershafts and is capable of producing per haps 500 tons of shipping ore a month when shipping facilities arrive.—Sal-mon City, (Ida.) WESTERN MARKET LETTER.

Special Correspondence,

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. f9 .- Although cattle receipts here and elsewhere were the largest of the season last week, all classes of killing stuff sold 10 to 20 cents higher during the week, and trade was active every day. Stock and feeding cattle sold 15 to 30 cents lower, most of the loss on light stockers and stock calves. The yards were well cleared at the close of the week, fortunately, as we have 25,000 fresh cattle here today, with very heavy runs at all the markets. Of course, although the market is in shape to handle big runs, which are expected, it was hardly equal to the task today, and prices are off 10 to 15 cents on all but the best kinds. Nine hundred to 1,000-pound Colorado steers, Old Mexicos, are selling at $3.20 to $3.35; 1,000 to 1,050-pound native Colo-fore the strike. Prime corn fed beef steers gained 20 to 30 cents last week, which encouraged feeder buyers, who bought the targe supply at steady to 15 cents lower than previous week, but stock cattle were neglected till the last of the week, and until the price got right, when plenty of buyers put in appearance and cleaned up the supply. Prices ranged from $2.50 to $3.75. Those acquainted with range conditions do not look for much change on western and Panhandle cattle balance of the season. Western sheep and lambs made up nearly all of the 23,700 head that came in last week. Killers took the lambs at 10 to 15 cents lower prices, but sheep were steady, feeding sheep strong. Run today is 10,000 head, market on sheep steady, lambs 10 cents lower. There has been very little change in price of sheep and yearlings for two or three weeks, yearlings selling at $3.60 to $3.80, wethers $3.40 to $3.80, and ewes at $3.25 to $3.40. Sixty-seven to 75-pound lambs bring $5.20 to $5.40, feeding yearlings and wethers up to $3.60, ewes around $3.25, and young breeding ewes almost any price up to $4.25. quainted with range conditions do not

A UTAH SHIPPER.

Among the many shippers who had sheep here from Utah and the Northvest yesterday was J. E. Austin of Heber City, Utah, who was here with a string of about 2,000 good lambs. This is Mr. Austin's first trip to this market this year, but he has had consignments here twice this summer, having shipped here over 6,000 sheep and lambs within the past month. "I still have about 6,000 to come to market and will likely forward them right soon it prices hold up all right," said Mr. Austin. "There are not a great many sheep in our dis-ariet to come to market yet. The move-ment has been pretty good all along until some of the shapers have closed out most of their holdings. We did not start out this year with as many sheep on hand as usual. The land up there which we have used for range for some time is being settled up now and this cuts down the limits of the range for sheep. Some of the sheepmen closed out last year and more of them are go ing to do so this year. The sheep and lambs have done well all summer and will be shipped out pretty clean. I
